

Moodle H5P True/False statements

iPana electronic maternity card

According to WHO, remote monitoring of pregnancies could drop global maternal mortality over 60%.

FALSE

According to WHO, a series of check-ups during pregnancy could drop global maternal mortality over 60%.

TRUE

According to WHO, better diet and nutrition during pregnancy could drop global maternal mortality over 60%.

FALSE

Electronic maternity service enables more flexible transaction of information compared to paper card.

TRUE

Electronic maternity service enables better quality of data compared to paper card.

FALSE

Electronic maternity service improves patient safety compared to paper card.

TRUE

Electronic maternity service gives realtime information on the pregnancy.

TRUE

Local testing of the service was included in introduction of electronic maternity service in Lapland Hospital District.

TRUE

Hospital district owns the information in the electronic maternity card.

FALSE

Patient's permission is needed in order to use the electronic maternity card.

TRUE

Electronic maternity card in Finland can be used in Finnish, Swedish or English.

TRUE

Electronic maternity card in Finland can be used without Finnish social security number.

FALSE

Information accessibility is better with electronic than paper maternity card.

TRUE

Electronic maternity card in Finland includes possibility to record self-monitored measurements, such as blood pressure measurements.

TRUE

Electronic maternity card in Finland includes background information on the patient.

TRUE